DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1-13 are pending.

Lack of Unity

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions, which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claims 1-9 are directed to a method of treating visceral adiposity, metabolic syndrome, type II diabetes, or insulin resistance, comprising administering an effective amount of a compound of formula I, II, III and IV as listed in claim 1.

Group II, claims 10-13 are directed to a pharmaceutical composition comprising a first compound selected from a compound of formula I, II, III and IV as listed in claim 1 and a second compound selected from an antidiabetic agent, a lipid lowering agent, an antihypertensive agent, an antiobesity agent, testosterone, a testosterone precursor, a testosterone pro-drug, a testosterone analog and an androgen receptor agonist.

The inventions listed as Groups I – II do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding technical features.

An international application should relate to only one invention or, if there is more than one invention, the inclusion of those inventions in one international application is only permitted if all inventions are so linked as to form a single general inventive concept (PCT Rule 13.1). With respect to a group of inventions claimed in an international application, unity of invention exists only when there is a technical relationship among the claimed inventions involving one or more of the same or corresponding special technical features.

The expression “special technical features” is defined in PCT Rule 13.2 as meaning those technical features that define a contribution which each of the inventions, considered as a whole, makes over the prior art. The determination is made on the contents of the claims as interpreted in light of the description and drawings (if any). Whether or not any particular technical feature makes a “contribution” over the prior art, and therefore constitutes a “special technical feature”, should be considered with respect to novelty and inventive step.

The common technical feature in the groups is a compound selected from compounds of formula I, II, III and IV as listed in claim 1. The compound finasteride, a 5 $\alpha$ -reductase inhibitor (compound of formula 1) is well known in the art (U.S. 5,407,944, see claims 27, 32, 33) for promoting hair growth. As a result, no special technical features exist among the different groups because the inventions in Groups I-II fail to make a contribution over the prior art with respect to novelty or inventive step. In conclusion, there is lack of unity of inventions, and therefore restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.1.43).

The application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. If applicant elects Group I, applicant is required to elect a genus from formula I, II, III and IV. For example compounds of formula I. Applicant is further required to elect a subspecies from compounds of formula I (e.g. finasteride). Applicants are required to elect a species of the disorder e.g, type II diabetes. If Applicants' elect Group II, Applicants' are required to elect a genus from formula I, II, III and IV for compound one. For example compounds of formula I. Applicant is further required to elect a subspecies from compounds of formula I (e.g. finasteride). Applicant is further required to elect a species for second compound from the list of antidiabetic agent, a lipid lowering agent, an antihypertensive agent, an antiobesity agent, testosterone, a testosterone precursor, a testosterone pro-drug, a testosterone analog and an androgen receptor agonist. For example, an antidiabetic agent. Applicant is further required to elect a subspecies from the species of second compounds. For example if Applicant has elected antidiabetic agents, a subspecies of the antidiabetic agent for example, ciglitazone needs to be elected.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

The election of an invention may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Because the restriction/election requirement is complex, a telephone call to applicant's agent to request an oral election was not made. See MPEP § 812.01.
